In the classroom, he achieved an ever rarer feat, becoming the first student-athlete at Michigan State to earn Academic All-America honors four times. A two-time first-team All-Big Ten selection, Sadler earned first-team All-America accolades during MSU's Big Ten and Rose Bowl Championship season in 2013. # MICHIGAN STATE ATHLETICS ANNOUNCES 2021 HALL OF FAME CLASS

Michigan State is inducting eight Spartans into its Athletics Hall of Fame this weekend as part of its annual "Celebrate" weekend. The 2021 Hall of Fame Class includes: Franklin Gomez (wrestling), Anthony Hamm (men's cross country/track and field), Carol Hutchins (softball/women's basketball), Lynn Janson (men's golf), Elizabeth (Shimek) Moeggenberg (women's basketball), Floor Rijpma (field hockey), Charles Rogers (football) and Ron Scott (hockey).

The Celebrate 2021 weekend included the 11th-annual Varsity Letter Jacket Presentation on Thursday night and the Hall of Fame induction ceremony last night, along with a special recognition of the 2021 MSU Athletics Hall of Fame Class during today's Michigan State-Nebraska football game at Spartan Stadium.

The MSU Athletics Hall of Fame, located in the Clara Bell Smith Student-Athlete Academic Center, opened on Oct. 1, 1999, and displays plaques of the 154 previous inductees. The charter class of 30 former Spartan student-athletes, coaches and administrators was inducted in 1992.

Below are excerpts of the features on the eight inductees for the 2021 Michigan State Athletics Hall of Fame Class. For the complete features, please visit MSUSpartans.com.

When Franklin Gomez was a student-athlete wrestling for Michigan State, he would often see all the plaques for academic and athletic honors in the Clara Bell Smith Student-Athlete Academic Center and wonder what it took to get there. Well, Gomez doesn't have to wonder anymore, as his picture and name will be up there as a member of the MSU Athletics Hall of Fame.

"I wasn't really expecting it, because I've been so consumed with my training and competing, but hadn't really realized that I was even up for this honor." Gomes said recently while training for the Tokyo Olympics, his third representing Puerto Rico, the first Puerto Rican to qualify to three Olympics.

"But after thinking and reflecting on it, I'm just super honored." Gomez said proudly. "It's a blessing, because I remember being at the Smith Center, walking in and seeing all the pictures of all the Academic All-Americans, and then all the Athletics Hall of Fame of all those great Spartan athletes and wondering how those people got there. I saw the wrestler, Kelvin Jackson, and lots of other, older folks, wrestlers and other athletes, and just thinking wow, how do people make it up there, that's got to be really tough and what an honor for them."

Gomez is the Spartans' last National Champion, winning the 2009 NCAA title at 133 pounds. A two-time Big Ten Champion for MSU at 133 pounds in 2008 and 2009, Gomez amassed 119 career wins for the Spartans from 2006-10 and is tied for sixth all-time on the career wins list at Michigan State. A total of 15 of his wins came in NCAA Championship action, tied for fourth on MSU's all-time NCAA Tournament wins list.

That success helped Gomez earn selection for the MSU Athletics Hall of Fame, and he beams with pride knowing that his plaque will be in the Smith Center.

"I think it's going to be really special in the sense that it's not necessarily because my image is there, but special in a sense because I remember the Smith Center being such a huge advantage and help for me with my education at Michigan State, Coming from Puerto Rico, I needed a little extra help with school, so I was always in the Smith Center and all those people that helped me in my education mean so much to me to help me get to where I am today. So in that sense, I have an extra emotional connection to the Hall of Fame in the Smith Center, because I know I wouldn't have been able to make it without the Smith Center and the help I received there, so to have my picture in the Hall of Fame in that building is extra special."

Gomez will be able to laugh to himself thinking about his first impressions of the Smith Center in his early days at MSU.

"I used to think that it was just for academic honors, and didn't know all the criteria and I didn't think I would ever make it." Gomez said with a laugh. "But then when I learned that the Hall of Fame was for athletic success as well, I thought, 'well maybe someday I can be good enough to be up there.' The Smith Center is all about helping people with their academics as well as athletics, so it's a great honor to be in there."

Gomez earned his bachelor's degree from MSU in human resources and went on to earn his master's in business administration from Penn State, where he coaches freestyle wrestling and trains with the Nittany Lion Wrestling Club, making sure to proudly wear his Spartan gear.

Gomez was an extra special Spartan wrestler, but knows that he came from strong roots at Michigan State, and has a strong understanding and appreciation that he was able to accomplish everything that he did with hard work and some help from lots of people, including many in the Smith Center. He has an extra sense of gratitude and hopes to pay-it-forward to current and future Spartans.

"It's a tremendous honor to be in the Hall of Fame. Being in the Smith Center and being able to have other Spartan student-athletes see that, and to see that diversity. Coming from my background and a different country kind of shows that you can come from anywhere, any town, any country and if you go to the right place with the right resources like Michigan State, you can definitely accomplish everything and anything you prepare for, because they'll help you succeed and help you do anything, for me completing the American dream," Gomez said beaming with pride.

For the complete Gomez feature, please visit MSUSpartans.com.

There is something about Flint, Michigan, that draws exte athletes to Michigan State. Before there were the Flintstones there was Anthony Hamm, who left his mark on both the Spartan cross country and track & field teams. The six-time All-American has found ab-around success on the track and on the cross country course.

Hamm follows a long tradition of Michigan State distance runners into the Hall of Fame, including Crawford Kennedy, Ken-Popejoy and Anne Pewe

Upon hearing of his induction to the MSU Hall of Fame from Michigan State Director of Athletics Bill Beekman, Hamm was full of pride

"He called and introduced himself, and I didn't have any idea I was being inducted, so it was puzzling." Hamm said. "So when he said that I'm being inducted into the Hall of Fame, it was just a lot of pride. I'm a Spartan at heart, and I bleed Green and White. I just felt like it was a tremendous honor being selected, with all the great athletes that have come in and out of Michigan State, so I just had a lot of pride."

His Abstrious career includes capturing two outdoor Big Ten Championships in the 10.000 meters. In 1991 he won the title with a stellar time of 29 il 83. He repeated the title in 1992 with a time of 30-02 38. Hamm is one of only six athletes in the Big Ten to repeat titles in the 10k.

"I am reary proud of the Big Ten championships for track and field." Hammisaid. "I won a couple of Big Ten tities in the 10,000 meters on the track and going to the National Championships. Then really, the big thing is, the relationships that I developed, great friends and teammates. Coach (Jim) Bibbs, Coach (Jim) Stintzi, those are the relationships that I just chensh; they are great people. So, those are some of the best memories that I have of my time at Michigan State."

Hamm's success translated well from the track to the cross country course. He began his illustrious Spartan career earning Big Ten Cross Country Freshman of the Year honors in 1987. Hammine ped Michigan State finish in the top five in the Big Ten Championships three times including a second place team finish in 1988. He is still the only Spartan men's cross country runner to be a four time All American. A three time participant in the NCAA Cross Country Championships. Hamminelped MSU finish has high as sixth in 1991.

His competitive running did not end once he left East Lansing. Hammir ran professionally for six years with Adidas, where he ran marathons. 0,000m and road races

"I have just a great appreciation for all the opportunities that Michigan State has provided for me. I'm originally from Flint. Michigan, and just getting the opportunity to be able to go away to college to a good university to get a good education, and then to have opportunity to run and compete all over the U.S. it was able to develop great friendships. Howe being a Michigan State Spartan, I bleed Green and White," Hammissaid

Softball and basketball standout Carol Hutchins, a 1979 graduate adds the Michigan State Athletics. Hall of Fame to her considerable list of career accomplishments. Already on her resume is a spot in the Greater Lansing Sports Hall of Fame (2000), the National Fastpitch Coaches Association Hall of Fame (2006), and Michigan Athletics, Hall of Fame (2011), showing just a portion of the impact she has had throughout her career. An AlAW National Champion as an undergraduate, she's now the NCAA's winningest active softball coach, with hearly 1,700 victories to her credit. Her coaching tree is lush with collegiate head and assistant coaches who have followed in the steps of their mentor.

Those accorades however likely paie in comparison to the lives she's impacted throughout her career as a standout athlete, championship-level coach, and most importantly, vocal advocate for the women in her charge. She's brushed off her own opportunities for the spotlight to tilt the light instead toward her piayers. (She once deflected an interview request after an NCAA regional with because the athletes in uniform "are the ones with the dream, the ones who did the hard work to get here.")

Her upbringing in Lansing - one of six children who grew up playing all sports in her backyard, cultivated her career path from an early age, even if she didn't quite but it all together until fater. Growing up a mile and a half from the MSU campus, she idolized Duffy Daugherty and MSU is football program. When she learned that being a college ath ete was something she could pursue it became her dream. While her parents may have preferred that she start at the more affordable Lansing Community College, she made it known that she would be attending Michigan State if the acceptance letter came.

"I finally got my Michigan State University acceptance letter that August," recalls Hutchins - or "Hutch" to anyone who knows her "It was truly the happiest day of my life. It was my dream - it was where I wanted to go my whole life."

Earning a starting spot at shortstop her freshman season, she helped priof the softball program to an Association of Intercollegiate Athietics for Women (AAW). National championship in 976 prior to the NCAA sponsoring championships for women. A two sport athlete who lettered in basketball in addition to softball she recalls that the women leading those programs played a large part of helping forge her career path.

"I wanted to be that person that everyone was to me when I was a young athlete" recalls Hutchins. "I wanted to be what Karen Langeland was to me what Diane ulibarri was to me., remember [former track & field coach. Nei Jackson being this elegant fine woman who set an example changed college but never left college. My experience at Michigan State is really what drew me into my love for that particular area of athletics. It was my senior year of high school before we were considered varsity athletes—we were just happy to be there and I don't know that we knew all of what our coaches were doing behind the scenes to try to give us an equal opportunity, to ensure that we weren't an afterthought."

Hutchins was named the head softbal coach at the University of Michigan in 985 after two years as an assistant coach for the Wolverines, and over the last 37 years has built UM into a perennial Big Ten and NCAA contender. More important to her however is how that has happened. She stresses a family atmosphere within her program, with hairmarks of hard work, supporting one another and of course some tough love. Expectations and accountability must be high. The how has always been of the utmost importance, with the end producing the high level of success that is the end goal.

For Lynn Janson, golf and Michigan State always went hand in hand. The East Lansing native grew up just across Grand. River Avenue from Old College Field and it's where his first memories of the game come to mind.

"There was a practice green on Old College Field, right were the Red Cedar River takes a turn." Janson described "They had two bunkers. So from my house we could walk if the water level was low enough, you could walk across stones and you were right there. I could practice all. wanted there."

All that practicing at the former Oid College Field range and later Forest Akers Golf Course helped make Janson into one of the best golfers in MSC history. Janson became a three-time All-American and two-time All-Big Ten performer and led the Spartans to the program's first Big Ten Championship in 1969.

'Bruce Fossum was determined to put together a good team and start winning.' Janson said. 'Winning the Big Ten Championship was a goal and it was expressed right when we got here. We had myself, Lee Edmundson and Rick Woulfe, so we had some good players and Bruce as determined that we were going to do some winning. I have to give Bruce a lot of credit."

While golf is the sport in which Janson would excel, growing up it wasn't always his top priority

If played baseball well enough if played my freshman year and played all positions it anson said. If was an All State basketbal player but golf didn't come that easily it really didn't cliked it right away and got serious about it at age 12 or 13 but I had to work at it.

"I decided that if I was going to do something beyond high school, it was going to be golf, so that's what I worked at,"

As Janson's game continued to flourish he knew that what was his deflacto home course. Forest Akers, would turn into his official home course, electing to attend MSU and play collegiately for the Spartans.

"It was pretty much Michigan State automatically" Janson said. "I knew the guy that ran Forest Akers, and after that I got to know Bruce Fossum really well. So I knew those people and it was Michigan State all the way, knew some of the older guys that went to Michigan State, so it was always Michigan State.

The photo has become conic Lindsay Bowen on the back of Elizabeth Shimek Moeggenberg after railying back from 16 points down to upset powerhouse Tennessee in the 2005 Final Four Moeggenberg was a part of the Michigan State women's basketball team that changed the program forever

The Empire, Michigan, native will now take her place among the best of the best in MSU history. She joins teammate Kristin Haynie. (2017). along with Mary Kay Itnyre (2015). Diane Spoe stra (2012) and Kisha (Kelley). Simpson (2011) as the only MSU women's basketball players in the Michigan State Athietics. Hall of Fame.

ulpon hearing she was being inducted Moeggenberg said. "I'm kind of speechless when you think about it. You think of all the phenomenal athletes that have gone through Michigan State and to be one that's going to be inducted into the Hall of Fame. It's a huge honor. When I think of my tearrimate Kristin (Haynie), who was inducted back in 2018 it was just a great experience. She was such a role model and such a great leader and a great tearrimate. We went down for the ceremony, I am really just speechless."

Moeggenberg left Michigan State as the Spartans all time leading scorer with 1780 points. She now stands third a intime in points scored and still remains first in field goals made with 719. The forward is one of only two Spartans to earn. All American honors twice. Moeggenberg is one of only six MSU, women's basketball players to earn. All Big Ten honors all four seasons. She also left her mark in the classroom as well, earning CoSIDA Academic. All American honors in both 2005 and 2006.

The 2005 season was the most successful in MSU women's basketball history. The Spartans ended the season ranked No. 2 in the final USA Today/ESPN Coathes poll, earning their highest-ever national ranking. Michigan State's starting five featured Moeggenberg. Kristin Haynie. Kelli Roehrig. Lindsay Bowen and Victoria Lucas Perry. MSU averaged 710 points per game, while allowing only 58.2. Those stats were boistered by a 67-51 win over No. 1 UConnion Dec. 29, 2004, as the

Oth-ranked Spartans not only won on the Huskies tough home court but also dealt them their worst home ioss in 12 years

Looking back on that magical season. Moeggenberg found it hard to riot think about ups and downs of such a memorable year

"A that we went through as a team and how close we were and what great leadership we had with Kristin (Haynie) and kelli (Roehrig) being the seniors on that team. It is such a cool memory that we all will share together. We pass it on to our children, and we share about it if we're in the coaching field or just in life." Moeggenberg said. "You learned so many lessons being a collegiate athlete not just because we were successful but just being a collegiate athlete. You just learned so many life lessons that you hope to pass on your own children are the people in your life that you are a role model to.

Moeggenberg's hard work during her coilegiate career translated to even more success as she left East Lansing. She followed her MSU career with several years in the WNBA and a stint playing overseas until 2009. Utimately, she returned to her roots on the family farm, working side by side with her parents. She also has returned to the basketball world as the varsity assistant coach at her aima mater Gien Lake High School Moeggenberg and her husband liuke a former MSU wrestler, are also busy parents to four kids.

* think the list to thank people could be pretty endless mean at the way from a my coaches growing up, to my high school coaches, to my family of course my parents. Tom and Linda, and my brother my sister and all my teammates throughout my career in high school. And all my teammates in college and obviously as you get more and more intense in think that the bonids even gets better as you train together more and are with each other a lot more is said Moeggenberg. "And then my husband Luke I mean he's just the rock in my life. He traveled overseas with me and left his career to come and be with me so we could be together and then when we got back, he started his own construction company."

Moeggenberg doesn't need that iconic picture of her and Bowen to ignite her Michigan State memories. The highs and lows of that incredible nde during the 2005 season are seared into her memory. It isn't only come-from behind wins from the Joanne P McCairie-ied learn that she remembers, but also the tough practices with a tight knift team.

Coming to Michigan State as a 17-year-old from the Netherlands and walking through the Clara Bell Smith Student.

Athlete Academic Center and seeing the names and accolades of legendary Spartan athletes who came before her field hockey player Floor Ripma never really thought that she would join that list.

But after one of the most prolific careers in program history. Rijpma admits she was overwhelmed when she received the call that she was selected to the Michigan State Athietics. Hall of Fame.

"I was just flabbergasted." Rijpma said via FaceTime from her home in The Netherlands. "You know when you're young and walking through the building and you see all of these names and the banners and they talk about it, but you never think that your name will be up there with them. That's great, that's major, that's awesome. There's not a hair on my head that would say I would up be there in 10 years with all of those other names.

"I think it's a great honor, a great privilege. Imjust so honored to have been chosen."

Rijpma was a two-time First Team All-American and helped lead MSU to three straight NCAA Tournament appearances, including reaching the regional finals in both 2008 and 2009. The Spartans went 6-0 in league play in 2009 to win their first-ever outright Big Ten regular season title and captured the conference tournament title to become just the second team in league history to finish the regular season undefeated and win the Big Ten Tournament.

"You can always say when went to the Final I6, or some other wins, but it would take away all of the other moments," Rijpma said when asked of any specific games that stood out in her career "What I feel the most proud about when look back on those days and those times were the complete team and family that we had here

"Coming nere and going to college, they say in America that the team would truly become you'r family." Rijpma recalled "When you're a foreigner, at 17 years of age and having your team to rely on basically 24.7 and going through everything with them, the bad and good times, that was completely true. This team became my family."

Ripma recalled the transition she made imoving from her home in Bunnik, The Netherlands, and arriving at Michigan State on a January day in 2005.

"My momijust recently moved and she brought me ali of these pictures from when I was younger and one was me at the airport leaving for America" Rijpma recalled.

* remember her saying were not coming with you and not because we don't love you but because we know you can do this. You just go and take on the world.

"When got to the States, I came in January, and it's not like it is during the fall or summer, from a weather standpoint. Think I was in Wilson Hall and I can STILL remember hearing this train at night, every night. Those first days, weeks maybe, were the hardest because you don't even know anyone.

n addition to getting to know her teammates. Ri,pma said having a couple of fellow Dutch teammates, coaches in Rolf van de Kerkhof and Heien Knull and the support she received at MSU helped her transition.

"The organization of the athletic department and the support we had there), you can never know how much important that was for us." she said. "Being able to play in sports and excell in the area of academics, because of the entire support fearn that we had access to it just made for an incredible experience in terms of going to school and playing your sport."

In just two seasons wearing the Green and White in 2001 and 2002. Charles Rogers rewrote the Michigan State record book and became one of the greatest wide receivers in school history.

A native of Saginaw Michigan Rogers is still MSus all-time leader in touchdown catches with 27 and ranks third in school history in receiving yards (2.82), and eighth in catches (35) leven though he only played in 24 collegiate games. He still owns the top-tiwo MSUs nigre-season marks for receiving yards (1.470 in 2001 and 351 in 2002) and 1D catches (4 in 2001 and 13 in 2002), and his 20.90 yards per catch during his career ranks second in the school record book, trailing only College Football Hall of Famer Kirk Gibsgn (20.96).

Rogers passed away at the age of 38 in 2019, but is still revered by his teammates.

"Charles was a special player - athletically, he was phenomenal," said former tearmate Lorenzo Guess, who is now the associate head strength and conditioning coach for the Spartans, "His energy was awesome and he really loved the game and his tearmates. He was very loyal to everyone he played with and he had tremendous respect from everybody. He was a real person. Sometimes you might have the best player on the tearn and people don't relate to him, but Charles related with everybody."

A five-star recruit. Rogers arrived in East Lansing as one of the most decorated prospects in the history of the program. He was rated the No-1 overall player in the class of 2000 by £5PN com after recording £26 receptions for 2,644 yards (2,0 avg.) and 39 TDs as a three-year starter at Saginaw High School As a senior in 1999. He set MSU single-season records for receptions (67), receiving yards (-470), touchdown receptions (14) and 100-yard receiving games (6), in his first year on the active roster. He also became the first Spartam receiver to average at least 200 yards per catch (219 avg.) since Andre Rison in 1988 en route to earning second team All Big Ten honors. From the media in MSU's 17-10 win at Notre Dame on Sept. 22. Rogers caught a third-and-6 pass from Ryan Van Dyke and sprinted 47 yards before diving into the end zone for the game-winning touchdown.

"I had to go against him in practice all the time" recalled Guess, laughing "He was the fastest person live ever gone against. During one practice, we were in cover one and he went in motion and fin coming toward the ine of scrimmage and the ball was snapped so he's coming toward me and i'm coming toward him. And before I knew it, he ran right past me. In chasing after him, and I'm like please overthrow it, please overthrow it and luckily it was overthrown, He had game speed. He caught a slant at Notre Dame (in 2001) and just look off and outran everybody (for the game winning touchdown!"

HADE BRIGHTER"

PROUD PARTNER OF MICHIGAN STATE ATHLETICS

As a junior in 2002 Rogers became the first Spartan to win the Bilethikotf Award, given annually to the nations best receiver. Despite being the focus of opposing defenses. Rogers broke his own school record with 68 catches for 1,351 yards and 13 touchdowns and was a consensus All American, first team All Big Tense ection, team MVP and Aiderton Award winner (MSU Maie Athiete of the Year). He graced the cover of The Sporting News in September 2002 with the head ine, "Meet College Footballs Best Player" and had four conservative. 00-yard receiving games to start the season. Rogers had eight receptions for a season best 175 yards vs. Notre Dame on Sept. 21 including an acrobatic catch in the end zone late in the fourth guarter that is remembered as one of the best in Spartan history.

During his record breaking season in 2002 Rogers became only the second receiver to MSU history to record back to back 1,000 yard seasons, joining Piaxico Burress, who accomplished the feat in 1998-99. Rogers led the Big Ten in receiving yards (112.5 per game, and TD receptions (113), while ranking third in receptions (1567 per game). He also ranked among the NCAA leaders in TD catches (third with 3) receiving yards (eighth with 1,351) and receptions (tied for 27th with 68). Fifty-seven of his 68 receptions (84 percent) resulted in first downs.

With his 21-yard TD reception in the second quarter vs. Northwestern on Sept. 28, 2002. Rogers set both then NCAA and Big Ten records by catching a TD pass in his. 3th consecutive requiar season game and his 14th straight game overall. He also had six 100 yard receiving games, tying the single season mark he set as a sophomore.

When Ron Scott made the decision to come to Michigan State, he was hoping to be a part of something special. Two first team All America selections, two first team All CCHA nods, two Hobey Baker Award finalist appearances, three team MVP pieces of hardware and two George Aiderton MSU Male Athlete of the Year trophies were just some of the honors bestowed on Scott during his marvelous three seasons for Michigan State.

"You think back and it was a long time ago, but to still be remembered and be alongside some of the greatest athletes at MSU is just a huge honor." Scott said. "I'm humbled."

Scott arrived in East Lansing from Gueiph, Ontario, in what was Ron Mason's second year at MSU

"I was familiar with Coach Mason from working at his hockey school for a few years. Scott-said "A couple of my friends that I grew up with played for him at Bowling Green. When I had the opportunity at Michigan State. I knew it dibe a perfect fit."

Scott who along with teammate Newell Brown, came to MSU from the Cornwall Royals after winning a national championship for the junior team back home in Canada

The first year here was tough - we were in a complete rebuild and were a bunch of freshmen and sophomores playing against some of the best teams in the country. Scott said "But we knew from day one and never waveled that I was going to turn around it certainly was a culture change. We were different, we came with aspirations of playing more than college hockey."

n what was MSU's final year in the WCHA in 1980-81 Scott and the Spartans finished 12 22-2 Despite the Learn's record Scott's play garnered notice as he was named the WCHA Freshman of the Year the Spartans Outstanding Rook e Award winner and the team MVP

With a year of experience under their belts and the lessons of their rookie season. Scott and the Spartans had a breakout year in 1987-82. Scott backstopped the Spartans to a second-piace regular season finish in the CCHA MSU went on to win the CCHA Tournament title, with Scott winning Tournament MVP honors, and reached the NCAA Tournament for the first time in 15 years.

It was Scott's play that season that helped set the tone for the program for the years ahead. Scott posted a 2.85 GAA. The lowest by a Spartan goaltender in 12 seasons, and was a Hobey Baker Award finalist along with being named the Hockey News College Player of the Year.

While the programs first CCHA Tournament title may have been the highlight of 198-82. It was a game earlier in the year that Scott points to as the turning point for the season - and perhaps the program.

"You have to find your moment where you start to believe that you are competitive." Scott said. "For us, it came against Michigan early in the year. Munn was rocking and we had a time early in the second period where we were two men down for four straight minutes. Not only did we kill all of it off but for the last 45 seconds our three guys printed their five guys in their zone and the place went crazy. From their on, we steamroised them. That was a moment when we realized we were good."

MSU SPARTAN MARCHING BAND

COACH TUCKER'S PLAYLIST

BY MARY PLATT

Spartan football: you can't have one without the other! (Well, theoretically you could - but it just wouldn't be as much fun.) The Spartan Marching Band's performance is as integral to the passion and pageantry of a football Saturday as the team's performance (s. and the relationship between the team and the band is a close congenia; and mutually beneficial one. Spartan head football coach Mel Tucker took several players to Spartan Marching Band practice, learning several drills and listening to the band play

To highlight that unique partnership, the Spartan Marching Band salutes Coach Tucker during today's halftime performance, with a playlist of tunes the coach has personally selected as some of his favorites. Can you receive insight into someone's personality and thought processes by hearing their top music picks? Let's find out-

The piay ist is divided into four medleys, opening with a mash-up of "24K Magic" (Bruno Mars), "Apache" (Jerry Lordan) and "Maps" (Maroon 5). The second medley features "Boo'd Up" (Joelie James), "California Love" (Tupac Shakur) and "Lose Yoursetf" (Eminem).

Next up is medley number three, which includes "Too Close" (Next), "Summer" (Calvin Harris) and "Old Town Road" (Lil Nas X). And the closing duo of tunes salutes both the dreamers and the doers - very appropriate for a coach's music list and philosophy. "Havana" (Camila Cabello) and "I Want Something Just Like This" (The Chainsmokers and Coldplay). Here's to you and your eclectic musical taste. Coach Tucker' harley Eisele and The Eisele Family Foundation have long been interested in the student-athlete as a complete person. "Our interest is not just the student-athlete on the field or on the court, but equally important, the student-athlete in life." said Charley. "We feel this part of the student-athlete experience has been underserved, the part that provides them with life skills that will take them beyond their athletic career in college, and serve them well as they pursue their careers in something other than athletics. So that's our passion, to help in areas where others have not."

Their recent gift commitment will be used to expand MSU's Student-Athlete Engagement programs and increase access to these innovative events, programs, and workshops.

Personal development programming is the cornerstone for Student-Athlete Engagement with the goal to educate student-athletes in financial literacy using nationally recognized facilitators and local partners to provide relevant information on budgeting, investing, spending, and the importance of credit and saving. "With the introduction of NIL (Name, Image, Likeness) compensation, the types of education these programs will provide have become even more important," Charley said.

Margie and Charley Eiseie

Recent legislation has allowed student-athletes to be compensated for their name, image, likeness, or personal appearance for promotional purposes by a non-institutional entity, "More student-athletes will be in a position where they will have discretionary funds, and the skill sets on how to invest it, save it, or budget spending, have come to the forefront in light of these changes. It is fortunate that we are expanding these programs at the same time these new rules are being put in place," explains Charley.

ffOur interest is not just the student-athlete on the field or on the court, but equally important, the student-athlete in life."

-Charley Elsele

The philanthropic commitment from the Eisele family will allow MSU Athletics to expand the use of Game Plan, a virtual education platform that provides educational content, mentorship, and career services for student-athletes. Course examples include nutrition, professional development, mental health, and civic engagement. The Eisele Family Foundation wanted to provide more opportunities for all men's and women's teams to access this platform. "We asked that these programs be made broadly available to all student-athletes, as well as athletic alums, across all sports." Charley said

Charley feels that one thing that is often overlooked is that student-athletes are not professional athletes: they are young adults starting out in college and there is much for them to learn. "In the grand scheme of things, they haven't had a lot of life experiences. Many haven't had the opportunity to learn skills related to financial literacy. Given the recent rule changes, it is crucial they learn these skills now and how to apply them. I asked what it would take to really give these programs a boost and get them going, and going strong. We decided to make that contribution and we're really looking forward to seeing the effects as they progress. We're very pleased to be a part of this."

SPARTAN TRADITIONS

SPARTY

"The Spartan" statue, designed and produced by MSU assistant art professor Leonard D Jungwirth, has a permanent home inside the atrium of the Spartan Stadium tower The 9-foot-7 ceramic figure weighs approximately 6,600 pounds, including its base in 2005, the sculpture was relocated to protect it from the elements

"The Spartan" was dedicated on June 9, 1945, at the intersection of Red Cedar Road, Kalamazoo Street and Chestnut Road. Popularly known as "Sparty," the statue remains one of the favorite photo subjects of campus visitors.

In 2005, an exact replica of the original terra cotta sculpture - now cast in bronze - took up residency on the plaza located at the north end of Demonstration Hall Field. The molds for the bronze statue were made from the original sculpture. The new statue was cast in bronze at the Artworks Foundry in Berkeley, California

As part of MSU's sesquicentennial celebration, the bronze "Sparty" was dedicated on Oct 8. 2005. Donors contributed approximately $500,000 to pay for all work related to the new sculpture, including the plaza.

THE NICKNAME - SPARTANS

In 1926. Michigan State's first southern baseball. training tour provided the setting for the birth of the "Spartan" nickname

It all came about when a Lansing sportswriter imposed the silent treatment on a contestwinning nickname and substituted his own choice the name that has lasted through the years

In 1925, Michigan State College replaced the name Michigan Agricultural College. The college sponsored a contest to select a nickname to replace "Aggles" and picked "The Michigan Staters."

George S. Alderton, then sports editor of the Lansing State Journal, decided the name was too cumbersome for newspaper writing and vowed to find a better one. Alderton contacted Jim Hasselman of Information Services to see if entries still remained from the contest. When informed that they still existed. Alderton ranacross the entry name of "Spartans" and then decided that was the choice. Unfortunately, Alderton forgot to write down who submitted that particular entry, so that part of the story remains a mystery.

Rewriting game accounts supplied by Perry Fremont, a catcher on the squad. Alderton first used the name sparingly and then ventured into the headlines with it. (Incidentally, after two days of spelling the name incorrectly with an "o". Mr. Alderton changed it to Spartan on a tip from a close friend.) Dale Stafford, a sports writer for the Lansing Capitol News, a rival of the State Journal, picked up the name for his paper after a couple of days. Alderton called Stafford and suggested that he might want to join the Spartan parade and he did

As Mr. Alderton explains: "No student, alumnus or college official had called up the editor to complain about our audacity in giving the old school a new name, so we ventured into headlines with it. Happily for the experiment, the name took. It began appearing in other newspapers and when the student publication used it, that clinched it."

While Sparty is seen at many athletic and alumni events, many of his appearances happen at hospitals, nonprofit organizations and elementary schools. He has comforted termina cancer patients, toasted with Spartan brides and grooms and has probably cut more ribbons. than a dozen city mayors. In addition, Sparty's Literacy Tour has introduced tens of thousands of youth to the joys of reading and to the magic of the Spartan spirit.

Made of hi-tech materials, including a viny chest plate and fiberglass molds like the ones used for making Muppets, the seven-foot costume weighs a total of 40 pounds, allowing enough flexibility for playful gestures and animation. Sparty is a far cry from the many paper-mache heads that have popped up since the 1950's, mostly from fraternity efforts. The first official paper-mache Sparty head debuted in 1955 courtesy of Theta XI In 1984, Sigma Phi Epsilon introduced the first "gruff" Sparty head sporting the unshaven look that still adorns many sweatshirts and jackets By contrast, the current Sparty costume is a state-of-the art. full-bodied uniform that costs he 300-member Spartan Marching Band which enters its 152nd season in 2021, is one of the oldest and most respected university marching bands in the country. The Director of the Spartan Marching Band is Dr. David Thornton and the Associate Director is Dr. Arris Golden.

The Spartan Marching Band was founded in 1870 as a 10-member student group. All of the original members were Civil War veterans

The Spartan Marching Band was a military unit connected with the college ROTC for most of its existence Until 1952, the band members wore military khaki uniforms. When Michigan State began playing Big Ten football in 1953 the band received its first green and white uniforms. Most of the strict military uniform codes are still adhered to today with squad leaders holding routing inspections before every performance

No flutes or clarinets are used in the Spartan Marchino Band, as these instruments are difficult to hear in the large Big Ten stadiums Instead, E-flat cornets play the high "woodwind-like" parts.

The Spartan Marching Band has entertained five U.S. Presidents: Theodore Roosevelt (1907), Herbert Hoover (1930), Franklin D. Roosevelt (1936), Lyndon Johnson (1965) and Bill Clinton (1996 and 2001).

The Spartan Marching Band has performed at 21 bowl games, including five Rose Bowls (1954, 1956, 1966, 1988, 2014) in addition, the band has made appearances at the 1964 New York Wond's Fair, '84 New Orleans World's Fair, '84 World Series in Detroit and '93 Coca-Cola Bowf in Tokyo, Japan.

The Spartan Marching Band was the 1988 recipient of the Louis Sudier Trophy for collegiate marching bands, administered by the John Philip Sousa Foundation

History of the MSU Fight Song

Yellmaster Francis Irving Lankey, a civil engineering major at Michigan Agricultural College composed the school's Fight Song in the spring of 1915. His friend Arthur L. Sayles, also a MAC student, wrote most of the words to the Fight Song. The football team's back-to-back road wins over national powers Michigan and Wisconsin in 1913 inspired Lankey to compose the MAC Fight Song because he felt those two schools had great fight songs. "Lank", as his friends called him, was a very popular and talented piano player.

Following graduation, he worked for the highway department and later became an instructor for the Army Air Corps. In a volunteer air demonstration in 1919, he crashed while attempting to land. Months after his untimely death, a girlfriend published his song

Members of the footbal team sold 770 copies of the song for 50 cents at the 1919 Home-coming pep assembly. When it sold out in less than 30 minutes, everyone knew the Fight Song was a winner. In 1920, the Military Band played the MAC Fight Song at home football games With slight variations to the original words, like changing Aggie to Spartan and MAC to MSU, it has been played ever since

The "MSU Fight Song" was off cially named "Victory for MSU" during Homecoming week in 2015 as part of the song's centennial celebration.

ALMA MATER MSU SHADOWS

MSU, we love thy shadows When twilight silence falls, Flushing deep and softly paling O'er ivy covered halis. Beneath the pines we'll gather To give our faith so true Sing our love for Alma Mater And thy praises MSU When from these scenes we wander And twilight shadows fade. Our memory still will linger Where light and shadows played. In the evening off we'll gather And pledge our faith anew. Sing our love for Alma Mater And thy praises MSU

MSU FIGHT SONG

On the banks of the Red Cedar There's a school that's known to al: Its specialty is winning. And those Spartans play good ball; Spartan teams are never beaten, All through the game they'll fight; Fight for the only colors Green and White Go right through for MSU Watch the points keep growing Spartan teams are bound to win, They're fighting with a vim Rah! Rah! Rah See their team is weakening, We're going to win this game Fight! Fight! Rah! Team. Fight! Victory for MSU

(Original Lyrics) On the banks of the Red Cedar There's a school that's known to all Its specialty is farming. And those farmers play football Aggie teams are never beaten All through the game they'll fight Fight for the only colors. Green and White Smash right through that line of blue Watch the points keep growing Aggie teams are bound to win. They're fighting with a vim. Rah! Rah! Rah! See their team is weakening, We're going to win this game Fight! Fight! Rah! Team Fight! Victory for MAC

DUFFY DAUGHERTY BUILDING AT SKANDALARIS FOOTBALL CENTER

The Michigan State football team moved into the $15.5 million Skandalaris Football Center in 2008 giving the Spartans one of the nation's finest college football facilities. The 25,000-square-foot addition to the Duffy Daugherty Football Building took 14 months to complete. The Skandalaris Football Center was renovated in 2020 to add new offices and staff meeting rooms.

The add tion was made possible through the generous donation of MSU alumni Robert and Julie Skandalaris of Bloomfield Hills, Michigan, who donated $5 million as the lead gift for this $12.5 million phase of the project. The structure features team, staff and position meeting rooms, coaches' offices and The Demmer Family Hall of History

In addition, an expanded weight room was finished in September 2008 that increased the facility in size from 9,000 to 16,500-square feet. Another renovation to the Duffy Daugherty Building was completed in 2009 as the program opened the spacious 1,800-square foot Henry and Lou Ann Bul ough - Football Players Association Player Lounge.

The John and Becky Duffey Practice Field features a FieldTurf playing surface to complement the Spartans' natural grass field. The classic HD turf, which was installed in July 2013, features a patented layered infill system comprised of cryogenic SBR rubber and silica sand designed to be the safest and highest performing infill cushion layer for athletes. In addition, a permanent 50-foot video tower was constructed between the two practice fields. In the summer of 2014, a brick exterior was added to the north end of the facility

Michigan State's Sports Medicine and Performance Center, located inside the Duffy Daugherty Football Building, opened on Aug. 3, 2015. The Sports Medicine and Performance Center features: four therapy pools, including two underwater treadmills and two hot/cold pools, new treatment tables and taping stations: three private examination rooms for team doctors, three private offices for the athletic training staff, X-ray; a stretch station; other therapy equipment and modal ties as well as shower and locker space

Football student-athletes have direct access from the new locker room to the completely renovated training room. The combined cost of the new football locker room and Sports Medicine and Performance Center was $5.5 million

SPARTAN STADIUM

Spartan Stadium is in its 98th season as home to Michigan State football. Since its opening in 1923 Michigan State has won 70 percent of its games played in Spartan Stadium. The Spartans hosted their 500th game at Spartan Stadium on Oct 12, 2013, against Indiana on Homecoming.

One of just four collegiate football fields in the country to win Sports Turf Managers Association (STMA) Field of the Year honors twice (2005 and 2016). Spartan Stadium got a new playing surface for the 2019 season. The project, which took place in the spring of 2019 replaced the modular field system with a conventional grass field. The modules were first installed in 2002 when Spartan Stadium returned to natural grass for the first time in 33 years and were renovated following the 2011 U2 concert in which the entire surface had to be replaced.

The sod for the new field was grown at Tuckahoe Furfgrass Farms in New Jersey, the number one provider of high quality athletic field turfgrass for the Midwest and northeastern part of the country. The soil types at Tuckahoe Farms provided a natural match to the engineered root zone that is utilized in Spartan Stadium. Sod from Tuckahoe Farms can be seen in professional stadiums across the country including Lambeau Field. Lincoln Financial Field and Heinz Field in the NFL. Along with the Michigan State turf management staff. Fields Inc. helped oversee the installation of the new grass in Spartan Stadium.

Spartan Stadium represents a tribute to Michigan State's footbal past and a vote of confidence in its future. Since 2012 more than $50 million has been committed to upgrading the 97 year-old facility to continually enhance the game day atmosphere. Most recently, Michigan State added new chairback seating areas for an expanded sideline club for the 2021 season, putting Spartan Stadium's current capacity at 74,866 (previous, 75,005).

n December 2016, the Michigan State Board of Trustees approved a $13 million addition to the south end of Spartan Stadium that opened prior to the 2017 season. The 20,000-square foot single-story project features the addition of 236 bathrooms, four concession stand areas (completed as a separate project for the 2018 season), and movement of the ticket entrances out from the stadium structure to create donor plazas and renovated gates similar to the North End Zone. In addition, permanent light structures, featuring LED field lighting, were installed over the summer in 2017 as part of the requirement of the new Big Ten broadcast agreement. The $2 million project meets NCAA national championship broadcast lighting levels of 125 vertical foot candies. and the field lighting is fully controllable in June 2013, the MSU Board of Trustees approved a $24.5 million project to the north end of Spartan Stadium that opened in August 2014. The structure features a two-story 50,000-square-foot addition as well as an entrance piaza, renovated gates, and additional restrooms and corcessions. The building includes locker rooms for teams, coaches and officials, including a 4,500-square-foot home locker room and a 700 square-foot home training room. In addition to a 3,600-square-foot media center and a 4,000-square-foot engagement center for all varsity sports. Former All America offensive kineman Flozeli.

Adams provided a leadership gift of $1.5 million for MSU's new locker room, which is named in honor of his later mother Rachel Adams.

Prior to the 2012 season, new high-def Panasonic video screens and scoreboards as well as a new sound system were installed in Spartan Stadium. The new scoreboard/video screen in the south end zone is 5,300-square feet, compared to its predecessor that measured just 567-square feet (installed in 1998). The top of the new south end zone structure reaches 130 feet. In addition, two new video boards as well as an LED ribbon board were added to the north end zone. The LED ribbon board covers 4 500 square feet (450- feet long and IO-feet high). Combined, the south and north video screens/ scoreboards total 13 300-square feet. The $10 million project replaced a 14-year-old scoreboard, message board and audio system. In July 2014, ESPN named Spartan Stadium's south end zone scoreboard among the Too 10 in the nation at No. 9.

A $64 million expansion project completed prior to the start of the 2005 footbal season featured the addition of nearly 3,000 seats, including 24 suites and a 193-seat press box, bringing the current stadium capacity to 75,005. "The Spartan" statue was relocated to the atrium of the new structure. The 200,000-squarefoot addition also houses the MSU Alumni Association, University Development and other units. The Michigan State Board of Trustees approved the major addition and expansion project of Spartan Stadium in September 2003. Barton Mallow/Clark served as the construction manager for the Spartan Stadium expansion project, with HNTB providing architectural services.

Spartan Stadium, which officially opened in 1923 at its current location, featured a natural grass playing surface until artificial turf was installed in 1969. The stadium returned to natural grass for the 2002 season. In 2005 and 2016, the natural grass playing surface in Spartan Stadium earned Field of the Year honors from the Sports Turf Managers Association (STMA).

Since 1957, capacity crowds have attended 178 games in Spartan Stadium, including the single-game record 80.401 fams who witnessed MSU's 20-19 loss to top-ranked Notre Dame on Sept, 22, 1990. The Spartans have ranked among the NCAA's Top 25 in attendance each of the last 64 seasons, including 19th in 2019, averaging 67819 fans per game Michigan State also ranked 19th in the NCAA in total attendance in 2019 as 474,731 fans went through the turnstiles for seven home games, including a season-high 73,531 vs. Arizona State on Sept. 14.

A series of projects paralleling the Spartans' rise to national football prominence enlarged the stee -and-concrete facility from its original 14,000 seats in 1923 to its present size.

The first came in 1935, the year in which the stadium was officially named Macklin Field, boosting the capacity to 26,000. The 1948 enlargement raised the total to 51,000

After 9,000 new seats upped the capacity to 60,000 in 1956, the upper decks were added to the east and west stands in 1957, bringing the capacity to 76,000. It also became Spartan Stadium that year Renovations during the summer of 1994 improved sight-lines and comfort for farts, while reducing the capacity to 72,027.

On Oct. 6, 2001 Spartan Stadium added another chapter to its storied history as a then world-record crowd of 74,554 attended the MSU-Michigan outdoor hockey game.

Michigan State has compiled a 373-163-13 record (.691) since taking up residency in Spartan Stadium (formerly Macklin Field) in 1923. The Spartans have gone undefeated at home 20 times since the stadium opened in 1923, including four times under former MSU head coach Mark Dantonio (2010, 2011, 2013, 2015), n. addition. Michigan State has suffered only one home loss during a season 30 times. Under Dantonio, the Spartans went 67-24 (.736) in home games (2007-19) including a 15-game winning streak (7-0 in 2010, 7-0 in 2011, won first game in 2012) and a 12 game winning streak (7-0 in 2013, won first five in 2014), which rank second and tied for third longest, respectively, in Spartan Stadium history. Michigan State's longest home winning streak at Spartari Stadium is 19 games from Oct. 14, 1950, through Nov. 21, 1953
